

"Alice came to crossroads. She spied the Cheshire Cat in a nearby tree.

'Which road should I take?' she asked the cat.

'Where do you want to go?' the cat asked helpfully.

'I don't know,' she admitted.

'Then,' advised the cat, 'any road will take you there.'

If my life lacks vision , then I will find myself wandering aimlessly. And, if I wander aimlessly , I usually end up wandering down a path that I never intended to go down. Heb 12:1-2:

"Therefore, since we have such a great cloud of witnesses surrounding us, let us also lay aside every encumbrance and the sin which so easily entangles us, and let us run with endurance the race that is set before us, fixing our eyes on the Jesus, the Author and Perfector of our faith, who for the joy set before Him endured the cross, despising the shame , and has sat down at the right hand of the throne of God."

I have learned over and over that I will never know all of the answers to my questions of where God is taking me and why He is taking me there.

However, no matter how much that I don't know the details about where I am going, I always have a direction that I want to be going- closer to Christ. Thank You Jesus, for giving me a direction even when I feel like I have no direction.

It's all about the truth of God vs. our feelings. God's truth is way better and so much more stable.
